What is AICP?

The American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP) offers the United States' only recognized professional planning certification. Certification involves having a background and experience in planning, passing the AICP Exam, meeting yearly CM requirements and keeping current on dues.

What is CM?

As of January 1, 2008, all members of the APA's professional institute, the American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP), are required to engage in continuing education. Central to the AICP's principles is the importance of remaining current in the practice of planning and demonstrating professional credibility through continuing education.

What is ASC?

Just as doctors need to demonstrate their expertise and knowledge within specialized fields of medicine, so too do planners in specialized fields of planning. This is what the Advanced Specialty Certification (ASC) program does. AICP's three advanced examinations: AICP Certified Transportation Planner (AICP CTP), AICP Certified Environmental Planner (AICP CEP), and AICP Certified Urban Designer (AICP CUD) provide the opportunity for our certified professional planners to demonstrate their expertise and leadership in their chosen specialization.
